ENGLISH TRADE UNION MEMBER PROTESTS AGAINST PAGE AS AMBASSADOR.

PRESENTED IN LONDON

Discredited in This Country by the Union Labor Leaders—Causes Considerable Excitement.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

London, May 17.—The resolution of protest against the nomination of Walter H. Page, as United States Ambassador to Great Britain was introduced by a member of the executive committee of the London trades council on the strength of a letter written on stationery bearing the letterhead of the Allied Trades Council of Greater New York. Charles F. Conway, Secretary of the National Brotherhood of Bookbinders.

After describing Walter H. Page as a member of the firm of Doubleday, Page and Company the letter says:

"This concern is bitterly opposed to organized labor. The only department that forced recognition from the union standpoint was the book binders, but they are now on strike being forced out as the policy of the firm is to replace them with boys."

The letter also says that the International Typographical Union, Local No. 6 continued the firm on the union list and that the men who had been secured to take the strikers' places rebelled and struck without the aid of any organization.

Asks Aid.

The letter concludes by asking "all the organized labor of the United Kingdom to assist in giving this matter the widest publicity and also to file a protest to our government on its selection and a protest to your own government for its acceptance of this man."

"Are Outlaws."

New York, May 17.—The National Brotherhood of Bookbinders is an "outlaw organization" expelled two years ago from the International Brotherhood of Bookbinders according to Peter J. Brady, secretary of the allied printing trades council of Greater New York. It has been repudiated by the American Federation of Labor, Mr. Brady announced today that he had written letters to Pres. Wilson and Ambassador Page explaining that Conway's position was unauthorized either by the printing trades council or the International Brotherhood of Bookbinders and that he would also inform the London Trades Council.

GIBSON CONFIDENT OF HIS ACQUITTAL

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Newburgh, N. Y., May 17.—On the second day of his trial on a charge of murder, Lawrence Gibson, who professes confidence in his ability to prove to the world his innocence of the crime charged against him. His case will be called for trial here Monday. The trial was held before Justice Tompkins, who presided at Gibson's first trial in November in Goshen, when the jury disagreed.

Gibson is charged with murdering Mrs. Rose Mensink Szabo, his client, while rowing with her at Greenwood Lake, N. J. on July 16 last. Mrs. Szabo was the widow of Bela Szabo, an Austrian of good family, who came to America twenty years ago. On the day of the tragedy Mrs. Szabo and Gibson were rowing near the shore of the lake and just within the New York state line when the boat tipped over, Gibson alleging that they were changing seats, and the lawyer and his companion were thrown into the water. When motor boats got to the scene Gibson was found clinging to a line. The woman had disappeared. Three days later Mrs. Szabo's body was found and the trial was set down as accidental drowning.

A friend of Mrs. Szabo became suspicious and an investigation was started that resulted in Gibson's arrest and indictment on a charge of murder. The woman's body was exhumed and an autopsy resulted in a finding that she was not drowned, but strangled to death by pressure applied from the exterior. It was further alleged that the lawyer had fraudulently obtained control of Mrs. Szabo's estate and had already converted a large part of it to his own use.

TARIFF PASSES TO FINANCE COMMITTEE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, May 17.—Neither the senate nor house was in session today when consideration of the tariff bill had passed from the senate floor to the finance committee where it will remain for at least two weeks.

Senator Simmons announced that the subcommittee considering the various schedules would not be ready to report for several days. One committee is now at work on the wool schedule, another is considering protests against the cuts in the cotton goods rates, while a third today gave a hearing to Assistant Attorney General Denison and Assistant Secretary Curtis of the treasury department who proposed among other things the administrative features of the bill.

Among the changes they advocate is one to give the secretary of the treasury the right to proclaim general valuation of foreign markets irrespective of foreign tariff rates.

Green Bay, May 17.—The members of the state fair committee met in Green Bay this morning. The officers of the Commercial club took them in a tour of the surrounding country and the Brown County fair grounds near De Pere where they extolled the advantages of Green Bay as a state fair site in the future. From De Pere the members of the committee departed for their homes.

WISCONSIN'S STATE FAIR IS EIGHTEENTH AS TO ATTENDANCE

Expected That Drastic Steps as to Relocation and Administration Will Soon be Undertaken.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., May 17.—According to a list prepared by representatives of the Wisconsin Farmer, at least eighteen state fairs and expositions held in this country each year secure a million or more of the people of the Wisconsin state fair, which mirrors the agricultural greatness of one of the very best farming states in the union.

Following is a list of those expositions, together with their dates for this season and their reported attendance in 1912:

Alabama state fair, Birmingham, October 9-18, attendance 200,000. Arkansas state fair, Hot Springs, November 11-19, 112,000. Illinois state fair, Springfield, October 2-11, 300,000. Indiana state fair, Indianapolis, September 8-12, 187,000. Iowa state fair, Des Moines, September 20-28, 272,000. Kansas state fair, Topeka, September 12-18, 148,000. Minnesota state fair and exposition, Hamline, September 1-6, 343,000. Nebraska state fair, Lincoln, September 1-5, 166,034. New York state fair, Syracuse, September 8-13, 204,000. Ohio state fair, Columbus, September 1-5, 200,000. Oklahoma state fair and exposition, Oklahoma city, September 23-October 4, 130,000. Allentown fair, (Pennsylvania), Allentown, September 23-26, 200,000. Texas state fair, Dallas, October 18-November 2, 62,960. Tennessee state fair, Nashville, September 29-October 4, 120,000. Virginia state fair, Richmond, October 6-11, 220,000. New Jersey-Pennsylvania Inter-State fair, Trenton, N. J., September 29-October 1, 150,000. Tri-State fair, Memphis, Tennessee, September 22-27, 127,687. National Western Stock show, Denver, Colorado, January 19-24, 121,360. Canadian Industrial Exhibition, Winnipeg, July 8-16, 138,961, and Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto, August 23-September 8, 363,000.

It is anticipated that following the investigation and upon the recommendation of the committee appointed to consider the re-location of its exposition grounds, the Wisconsin State Fair will be enlarged and improved, and better appreciated by the residents of the entire state.

Hoping to make the work of the state for agricultural improvement more effective, at least two bills have been introduced in the present legislature providing for the establishment of agricultural commissions not unlike the Wisconsin State Board of Agriculture, for the purpose of equalizing taxes and adjusting differences between the railroads and shippers and employers and employees. One measure provides for an agricultural commission of three members who would have the right to work now carried on by the Wisconsin State Board of Agriculture, the Wisconsin Farmers' Institute, the Wisconsin Live Stock Sanitary Board, the State Horticultural Society, the Wisconsin State Board of Forestry, the Wisconsin Cheese Makers' Association and numerous others and similar organizations.

Governor McGovern recommends the creation of a marketing commission which would not only have charge of all matters relating to the production and marketing of farm products, but would also consider unfair competition in buying and selling.

AMERICAN SUCCESS DUE TO TRAINING

President of International Olympic Committee Expresses His Opinion—Confidence a Factor.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Lausanne, Switzerland, May 17.—Baron Pierre de Coubertin, President of the International Olympic Committee, who has visited the United States several times of recent years, has very decided opinions to account for the success of American athletes at Stockholm last year. In explaining his ideas the Baron said:

"The American contestants were successful primarily because of their scientific training, and next, on account of their morale, that is to say their minds were made up before hand to win. Finally, their intense patriotism when pitted against other nations, was an added reason."

"Scientific training alone cannot win in any judgment, without moral training and patriotism. The Olympic athletes were without the first, as they came from a poor country, they did splendidly. Not only the body but the mind must be trained to win in sports, and the athletes of many nations overlook this, but not the Americans."

Referring to the Thorpe case, the Baron said:

"I cannot praise the American sportsmen too much for their prompt action in that delicate and unfortunate affair. The regulations governing the status of amateurs and professional athletes today are vague and unsatisfactory that a similar case might arise tomorrow in my country. We hope at our meeting in Paris in 1914 to make an international definition of amateur and professionals. My idea is that every candidate shall swear on his country's flag that he is a pure amateur. This would, I think, settle the question."

ELECTRICAL STORM DOES HEAVY DAMAGE

Severe Electric Storm Does Great Damage to Property in Western Wisconsin—Electric Plants Suffer.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Tomah, May 17.—In a severe electrical storm over western Wisconsin early today numerous farm and city buildings were struck by lightning and burned and a considerable quantity of stock destroyed. The storm was most severe in eastern Monroe county.

The large Benedict residence at Sparta was destroyed as were the properties of a number around Tomah. At nearly all points street cars and electric lights were out of commission for a time. The total damage will run into the thousands. No loss of human life has been reported.

OVERLOOK CHANCE TO PLACE PENALTY UPON SUFFRAGISTS

Authorities Fail to Heed Official Who Would Impose Tax by Reason of Technical Construction.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

London, May 17.—The two militant suffragettes who recently captured "The Monument," Wren's masterpiece, which stands near the northern approach to London Bridge, commemorating the great fire of 1666, knew that they were in grave danger of personal injury from the exasperated crowd which gathered about the base of the structure, but they have not yet availed themselves of the temporary abode was in even greater peril. Overlooking the monument is one of his Majesty's tax collecting offices, and in the office sat one of that type of the king's tax collectors who never overlook anything that may add to the Lloyd George budget.

This collector, after hastily reading the law relating to the imposition of the inhabitant house tax, sought the advice of an inspector in charge of the squad besieging the monument and begged him for him for permission to present the suffragette garrison with a demand for an inhabited house. The inspector, having dispossessed the caretaker, the two women were the de facto occupants of the structure. Fessed later, the inspector was the usual type of London police official with the requisite imagination to grasp the possibilities of this counter stroke and he refused to permit the levying of the demand. The collector stated that the law would not permit the levying of the tax on the militaries, because he flattered himself that the adjusters would permit a rather steep assessment on this beautiful structure.

Innocuous Bombs Found.

The innocuous bombs which have been discovered near various banks in London recently were not placed there by practical jokers, as the police have been inclined to believe, but according to a member of the militant organization, the fake explosives were left by recruits of the Women's Society and Political Union, who were being tested by their leaders as to their fitness for more serious forays.

It seems that a militant member who had been a member of the Women's Society and Political Union, who were being tested by their leaders as to their fitness for more serious forays.

SPARTA WOMAN NEAR DEATH FROM WOUNDS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

La Crosse, Wis., May 17.—With three bullet wounds in her body Mrs. Guy Wilson of Sparta, whose father, Wm. Hoag, attacked in an attempt to kill her after crushing her mother's skull and shooting Mr. Wilson in the chest, is lying in a hospital here, but has little hope of her recovery.

Mr. Wilson through whose body several shots were fired is also in a serious condition. The funeral of Mrs. Hoag has been engaged by the National Sailors and Firemen's Union to carry on a month's campaign, which he commenced on May Day, to enlist the support of the transport workers.

The actual date of the strike will be kept secret, but it was the plan to give the signal being left to Havelock Wilson, the president of the union; Edward McHugh, M. P. for Mid-Tyrone, and Father Hopkins, trustees of the union.

MANITOWOC STUDENTS PUT BAN ON FREAK DANCES

Manitowoc, Wis., May 17.—Probably most elaborate school function ever undertaken in this city was the prom of the Junior class last night in which 300 couples participated and in which the committee placed the ban on the Tango, the Turkey Trot and other freak dances. Outside decorators were engaged and an orchestra of ten pieces furnished the music.

Where the Children Come In.

There seems to be as much style in children's clothes now as there is in grown-ups. And the children know it, too.

The other day a little girl came home from school and mentioned her mother by saying: "I don't want to wear this dress any more. I want a Russian blouse like all the other girls have."

Now the mother knew that there were such things as "Russian" blouses, but that children were wearing them had escaped her notice. Being a wise woman she hastily sought counsel with the advertisements of THE GAZETTE and there she discovered just what "all the girls were wearing" and where she could buy most advantageously for her little daughter.

Many a mother has found that in order to know what to get for her children she must keep herself informed of changes of style through reading the advertisements of the shops in a reliable paper. They tell her not only what the other children have, but where each article may be bought.

ELECTION OF DIAZ AS PRESIDENT CERTAIN FROM BEING CERTAIN

Popularity Has Fallen Off Since Culmination of Revolution—Pessimism at National Capitol.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Mexico City, May 17.—General Felix Diaz has published his platform in the form of a manifesto or open letter to the political clubs supporting him. In it he has carefully refrained from giving any but the most general undertakings, such as a promise to restore peace, to do justice to all; to encourage education, etc., and all without entering into details as to how he is going to proceed.

But the election of Diaz appears far from certain. Diaz's election for president has been held the day after the close of hostilities in the capital. There is no doubt he would have been elected, without any material opposition. With Huerta in the chair, however, and his revolution to attract or distract the people, there is much less heard of the popularity of General Diaz. There are many of his own partisans who have expressed their opinion that he is no longer the popular support, but rather the fact that he has done nothing spectacular since he ceased firing shot and lance into all corners of the city.

Investigation of the army payrolls has shown an expenditure of 27,000 pesos ($13,500) a month for salaries to officers who never appeared in uniform. It is charged that this was the work of the one of the Madero family. He is said to have used the paymaster of the Rural Guard to pay off his own henchmen. His method was, according to the story told at the palace, to name a man whom he wished to favor or use, an officer in the rural guard, at the same time telling the commanding officer that this new officer would be a member of the Madero family. None of those appointments has appeared to collect his money since the overthrow of the Madero regime.

Capital Pessimism.

Pessimism in the Mexican capital continues dominant. With or without money the administration, in the opinion of thousands of residents, both native and foreign, is bound to fail. These men believe that intervention by the United States or some other power might prevent the overthrow, but left alone, the Huerta government will see itself slowly crushed backward against the wall by the constitutionalists.

Francisco I. Madero, alive, never could induce any considerable number of men to take arms in defense of his government, but Madero dead, has proved a far more potent figure. The reason why so many people allow their children to continue as cripples is explained by Mr. Tappins by saying that their parents do not understand that treatment will help. He said that at the period of treatment last from six months to three years. Young persons suffering with such deformities as club feet, crooked legs, or curvature of the spine can nearly all be restored to normal conditions. ## SIX YEAR OLD HAT MAY CAUSE TROUBLE

Strife in State Department Results From Official's Purchase of Headgear
From Ecuador.

Washington, May 17.—One Jipi Japi hat purchased six years ago by Wilbur Carr, director of the consular service in the state department, has stirred up a fine assortment of trouble which Mr. Carr and Herman Dietrich, former consul general at Uruguay, Ecuador are the principals. The hat was given by Mr. Carr to a friend several years ago. According to Mr. Carr in 1907 he asked the consul general to buy and ship to him a Jipi Japi hat which he wished for an acquaintance, but the piece of headgear was so long in coming that the acquaintance purchased a hat of ordinary straw. When the hat finally did arrive no bill accompanied it, and although Mr. Carr said he asked for a bill on numerous occasions he could get no satisfaction. Finally he gave the hat away. Mr. Dietrich now wants payment and he also would have Mr. Carr discharged from the service. He has made a formal demand for Mr. Carr's official scalp and incidentally he wants to collect $16.00 for the hat, and with interest his bill now amounts to a total of $20.50.

MAY PROVIDE HOME FOR CRIPPLED AND INDIGENT CHILDREN

Senator Cunningham Author of Bill
With This Purpose—One Thousand to Be Cared For.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., May 17.—Wisconsin may establish a home for the care of crippled and defective children, who are indigent, Senator Cunningham of Rock county is the author of a bill to accomplish this, which has just been given a hearing before the finance committee. The state board of control is asking for an appropriation of $20,000 to carry on the work of caring for these dependents.

Not until the next session of the legislature was any special attention given to this subject. At that session a law was passed directing the board of control to take a census of crippled and defective children in the state and appropriating $7,500 for the care of any who were indigent. About a dozen indigent cripples are now being cared for in a cottage at the home for dependent children at Sparta.

An information blank was mailed to the 7300 district school clerks of the state, outside of the city of Milwaukee. The reports from the 3,300 districts that have already reported indicate that there are about 1,000 children in the state present cases at Sparta. Of this number direct reports have already been received from 616 cases, and of these 203 are indigent. The report of the investigation as thus far conducted has been filed with the finance committee.

M. J. Tappins, secretary of the state board of control, said today that he believed 50 per cent of the children of school age who are crippled could be practically cured by treatment. He said that the period of treatment lasted from six months to three years. Young persons suffering with such deformities as club feet, crooked legs, or curvature of the spine can nearly all be restored to normal conditions. The reason why so many people allow their children to continue as cripples is explained by Mr. Tappins by saying that their parents do not understand that treatment will help. Strikers Attack Cars as They Are Run
Out of the East by Militia Je-

Thrown.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Cincinnati, May 17.—The street car strike situation has apparently gone beyond control of the local police. Mayor Hunt today sent a request to Gov. Cox and Adjutant General Wood for the militia. The first serious car strike trouble of the day occurred when an attempt was made to start cars from the Brighton barn.

Two cars had just left the barn when a large crowd surrounded them, pulled the crew from the cars and beat them. Missiles of every description were hurled at the cars. One is believed to have been seriously injured.

Another serious disturbance took place when an employe in a building in the course of construction hurled from the upper floor heavy bags of cement and pieces of iron onto an elevator Avenue car. The roof of the car was wrecked. Solitaires cut and bruised several pedestrians.

In all four cars were completely wrecked and the traction company was forced to abandon all efforts to operate cars in the western section of the town.

Two telephone requests for troops sent by Mayor Hunt by Gov. Cox brought forth the information that the governor was reluctant to take such a stand. After the refusal by the governor the mayor immediately dispatched a telegram to the adjutant general demanding troops and asking that they be sent by ten tomorrow morning.

Spectacular Fight.

Probably the most spectacular outbreak occurred in the center of the city when a huge steel brace, bags of cement and other missiles were hurled from the upper floors of a building in the course of construction. Several pedestrians were bruised and cut. The cars were completely wrecked.

In Madisonville, where the cars were operated for the first time today one of the cars but they were stationed along all routes at intervals of every fifty feet.

The traction company at noon suspended its attempt to operate cars. 100 of the men imported here by the company and another 100 by the American car barns after hearing of the attack opened negotiations with the strikers and agreed to leave town if escorted to a depot.

Columbus, Ohio, May 17.—At 11 o'clock Gov. Cox notified Mayor Hunt of Cincinnati that he did not think the situation there at this time was sufficient serious to warrant the sending of troops.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago, May 17.—Auto bandits resumed operations in Chicago today by robbing two pedestrians and stealing an unoccupied machine. Descriptions of the robbers obtained by the police lead them to suspect that two gangs one composed of four men and the other of three men committed the crime.

Y. P. Alexander was one of the hold-up victims. The second man made no report to the police. Alexander was leaving a garage on South Clark avenue, when the bandits' car occupied by three men drew up. Two of the occupants sprang out with revolvers and robbed Alexander of $15.00, a gold watch and his raincoat.

The other bandits composed of four men held up a pedestrian on the north-west side, and escaped after a running revolver fight with four policemen.

Jim Baskette, Nap. pitcher, has returned to the minors, but he probably will hold the lead over the American league batters all year. Baskette's batting percentage is 1.000.

Jess Willard, Kansas cowboy white "hope," depends on forty pounds of beef to defeat Junboat Smith when they meet at Frisco May 19. Tom Jones, Willard's manager, contends that a good big man can whip a good little man, but Tom forgets that Junboat is a little fellow with a big punch. If Smith defeats Willard, he probably will be matched with Luther McCarthy.

As per annual story which has obtained for many years, Cleveland is burdened with injured members just when the club is in its stride. With second place clinched, Manager Birmingham hurt his ankle so severely he will be out a few weeks and Lajoie had his finger smashed in a pitched ball. He will be a bench warmer 'coo.

John McGraw declares the Cubs are the best National club, but that Evers lacks good pitching material. Cheney is the only dependable pitcher. On the other hand, Philadelphia looks to have a pennant possibility.

Charley Ebbets, owner of the Brooklyn club, can deliver some advice on whether it pays to have a good team. In fifteen games in the church city the turnouts have recorded an attendance equal almost to that which appeared for the fifty games last season.

GAME AT DELAFIELD

AT ELEVENTH HOUR

Local High School Team Completes Arrangements Before Breakfast This Morning.

The Janesville high school baseball nine are crossing bats with the fast recreation boys of St. John's Military Academy at Delafield this afternoon. The game was arranged this morning at an early hour, and the team left at ten-thirty. Connell is again the choice for pitcher while it is expected that the cadets will place Murphy their star prep pitcher, to the slab. Murphy pitched six innings against Milton College yesterday and held them to one scratch single. The local lineup is as follows: R. Ryan, 3b; J. Stewart, 2b; Eiler, c; J. Ryan, s; Kennedy, cf; Hemming, 1b; Falter, lf; L. Stewart, rf; Connell, p.

SOX AND CARDINALS MEET BELOIT NINES

Cardinals Will Meet the Moose Lodge Team While White Sox Are Matched With Young Nationals.

The Janesville Cardinals appear to be endeavoring to play every team that the city of Beloit can produce for on Sunday afternoon they are to cross bats with the Moose team of the Line City at Yost's park. Their opponents are making a strong bid for the championship of their city and have such an excellent opinion of their baseball ability that they have challenged the championship college nine.

Bureau or less, the new twirler, that Manager Enright pitted against the Van Patten Colts, last Sunday, will do the twirling stunts for the locals. If good support is given either of the Janesville pitchers, victory should follow their Janesville slabs' efforts. Wilson, will be behind the bat for the Cardinals and Beloit will have nothing on the Janesville team when it comes to this department of the game. Wooden and Chafferty, who are to be the battery for the Beloit nine and are both well known to the Janesville fans and are about the best that the Line city can produce for baseball ability.

The Cardinals have had hard luck in starting the season dropping three games that should have been victories but for some costly slips by the infielders. Burger's delivery had the north ends swinging in their contest three weeks ago but poor support enabled the Beloit team to win by one run. The same story was true in the game between the Cardinals and the Van Patten colts. With more practice and playing together the Cardinals will be able to clean up anything that Beloit can produce.

White Sox.
On Sunday afternoon the Janesville White Sox are to clash with the Young Nationals of Beloit and from all indications the Sox are going to have a hard time to continue their long list of victories.

After last Sunday's poor exhibition the Sox's lineup has undergone a few changes and a stronger array of batters and fielders will face the Beloit nine. "Snooder" Britt will start the game for the Janesville nine and should be able to quell the onslaught of the Line City batters.

The baseball team representing the Sister School left this morning for Edgerton where they will clash with the Sister School nine of that city. The Janesville team has played wonderful ball this season the youngsters not having feigned a cowardly cmy not having a defeat in their record in the school league.

Roy Ryan is to do the pitching for the local team and judging from their past performances the Janesville team should defeat their Edgerton rivals with ease.

MILTON FIGHTS HARD TO WIN FROM CADETS

College Nine Downs St. John's Team in Last Four Innings by 7 to 3 Score.

Milton, May 17.—Crandall was the rescuer for Milton college yesterday afternoon in a battle with St. John's St. John's Military Academy of Delafield. The game was played on the Milton campus and was an interesting contest to witness, resulting in a 7 to 3 victory for the college. The cadets began the game by playing first-class baseball, but they blew up after the sixth inning. The game was all in favor of the military boys for the first half of the encounter. When Crandall, the crack Milton twirler, went to the mound in effort to stop the onslaught of the cadets. He pitched great ball and struck out eleven men in six innings.

Milton started the game without Crandall, having the idea that the cadets would be easy. St. John's started Murphy, whom they claimed was the best prep pitcher in the country. He certainly showed up the college team, for in the first five innings the Milton hurler could not get a hit. In the sixth inning they secured one scratch single, which was really an error. Murphy was taken out after the sixth inning, and Smith went in.

Murphy had struck out seven Milton players in the short time he pitched and it seemed rather foolish to take him out. Then the cadets blew up while Crandall was holding Milton safe. Randolph, the first Milton pitcher, was ineffective, was hit all over the field. The game was witnessed by a large crowd. Lineup score is as follows:

Milton: Bingham, 2b; Randolph, p; and 3b; Burdick, 3b; Crandall, 1b; West, 1b; White, cf; Crandall, cf; Sorenson, c; Richardson, lf.

St. John's: Owen, s; Campbell, 1b; Scouton, lf; Wepkmaster, cf; West, cf; Hartig, 1b; Murphy, 2b; Forbes, 3b; F. Fags, 2b.

Score by innings:

WASHED OUT THIS MORNING

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Afton, May 17.—The dam in the Bass Creek at Afton gave way this morning. The structure, which was built of beams and logs, had been weakened by the spring floods and has given way without any unusual pressure as the creek bottom is nearly dry. It was understood that the great mill owned by William Denoyer was about to be sold to a party from Esterville, Iowa.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT.

Up in the stands thousands of people, watching a big horse race, know that Dawson is second. And being only spectators they reason that Dawson will drive these last miles at a speed he has never before dared. Obviously it is the youngster's only chance to cut DePalma down. For being average racegoers they don't know all concerning the work of the men in the pits—the side of the race
that the public does not see—the side
that Edward Vell Fox graphically
presents in June Technical World Magazine.

But Dawson doesn't drive those last miles at a speed he never before dared, for suddenly a flag appears:
"S-75." It reads—"Slow down to 75 miles an hour."

Shrewd mechanical observers, you see, had detected the signs of an inevitable breakdown. They knew that DePalma's car couldn't last another lap. So they waited for the signal to signal with the black flag, to check Dawson, who, like DePalma, might have literally driven his car to pieces.
And he is checked in time and drives on, winning easily.

Now that's the way many long races are won. It's the phase of the race that is known only by those who may be taken into the confidence of team managers. As a matter of fact, the actual driving of a car is about the easiest part of the whole proposition.
That may sound exaggerated when you read the grim, drawn faces of men who have been helped down from the driver's seat at the end of some death-daring race. But their work was accomplished in three hours at the most. Months have been spent in preparing for those three hours.

This graphic description of one of the features in the noted Indianapolis race reads like a romance, and to the novice seems equally unreal. But there are so many marvelous things happening today, in real life, in the world
about us, that the age is recognized as an age of mystery so profound that we accept without question or effort
to understand.

Down near the ferry house at the Battery in New York is located the wireless station of one of the great city dailies. In this little building every hour of every day and night in the year is found an operator, whose business is not so much to send as to receive messages which are constan-ly coming in from the great waterway out beyond the harbor.

Every craft of any importance,
whether in the freight or passenger service, has a wireless equipment, and the wires which stretch from the top masts and connect with the operating room, amidship, keep the operator constantly informed of what is going on in the great outside world.

If you are a thousand miles at sea and want the baseball score of the American League, he can give it to you as soon as the game is finished,
and if you want to send a message
home he can accommodate you on short notice.

Many of the great ocean liners are equipped with a complete newspaper
outfit, and a paper filled with live telegraph news, is published every day.
Up on the roof-garden of the Waldorf-Astoria, where E. Bingham of Koskonong fame, keeps his ducks and chickens, is located one of these wireless stations, for the use of the guests of the house, and it is liberally patronized.

It is easy to understand how messages are flashed across the continent,
and under the sea, on a single wire,
and the familiar voice which comes to us through miles of space, is of such common occurrence that we accept the mystery without attempting to solve it.

But when you sit in the wireless

room of a ship in mid-ocean, tossed
by the waves and driven by the storm,
and listen to the hum of the wires
as they gather the sound waves which have been flashed through space at lightning-speed, and the operator says,
"the suffrage parade now on in New York is a great success," there is something uncanny about the whole proceeding, and you give it up without attempting solution.

Messages don't get all mixed up in transit, how they ever made to travel against the storm as readily as with it, and how they ever reach their proper destination, are only a few of the many questions
more easily asked than answered.

Some people pride themselves on their skepticism. They don't believe the bible because there is so much about it which they don't understand,
but the whole field of theology is no more mysterious than the realm of science.

A photograph was playing some choice records, in the parlor of a home, not long ago, when the telephone bell rang and a familiar voice
miles away said, "that's fine music;
where did you find the record?"

Anything in the bible more mysterious than that? The telephone in an adjoining room got busy on its own account, gathered up the song and transmitted it to the wire outside, and suddenly every wire for miles around sublimely with melody and carried the song without interruption to other messages. If God isn't in it, with the silent forces at His command, who is?

But the little story of endurance in the automobile race, is not so mysterious as it is suggestive. Inanimate machinery is built for service, and racing machines which will not stand the strain, are hardly worthy of the name. Yet there seems to be a link, and this Dawson's managers understood, and the slow down signal was hung out to favor the machine.

The mechanism of the human body combines with delicacy, great powers of endurance. It adapts itself to all kinds of engineers, and the speed
man is a common weakness.

The difference between the man at the wheel, in the road race, and the man at the throttle in the race of life,
is that the former is under instruction, and recognizes warning signals,
while the latter is a free moral agent,
accountable to nobody.

It matters not how many derelicts
may line the highway, or how rough
the road may be, each individual machine is manned by a driver: so influenced by sublime egotism, that nothing short of the ditch-checks his mad career.

The pace that kills is the popular pace and we encourage our children
to adopt this pace on the first lap of the journey.

Statistics recently compiled contain the startling information that more than half the children of school age in this country are suffering from some physical weakness, yet we rush them through school and out into life, to take up the unequal task of competing with strong and vigorous machines.

There is no argument in favor of alcoholic drinks as a beverage, and no intelligent boy can give a reason why he should cultivate a taste for a thing
which is as distasteful to him as castor oil.

If he uses his eyes to any purpose,
he discovers that men addicted to the drink habit are handicapped in every channel of endeavor, and so consumed with selfishness that love and home are sacrificed to gratify a taste which should never have been cultivated.

He imagines that the machine which he is running is controlled by a will which will hold it in check. The same old story with the same old outcome, and somewhere along the highway of the future he finds himself stranded.

But the damage which comes to the body in largest measure, and which transfers us to the Silent City long before our time, is not caused by drink, because but comparatively few people are victims of the drink habit.

The word, intemperance covers a multitude of sins. More of us are ruined by intemperate eating, than by drinking, and but few of us discover the fact until the machinery is clogged and vital forces seriously impaired.

The fact is generally conceded that diseases of the mind are more prevalent than diseases of the body, and usually responsible for premature decay.

When our nervous system is all shot to pieces it is very evident that somewhere back along the road, passion and emotion ran riot and we lost control.

The body was built for service, and the mind and heart, with which it is equipped, are the subtle forces which should be so carefully guarded that the machine will last to the end of the journey on the edge of allotted time.

4000 MOMENT

Mr. Binks and His Automobile.

A gentleman came and sold Mr.
Binks an automobile when Mr. Binks was thinking of selling his car. He nevertheless, Mr. Binks was proud of his automobile and he enjoyed it to the limit until it became noised about that he had bought it. The next morning after the fact had been noised
in the paper, a suave gentleman appeared at Mr. Binks' office and presenting his card, said:

"I am an agent for automobile accessories. What I want to interest you in is a new horn. It makes a noise like a pig under a fence and is something brand new. It cannot fail to attract the attention of the pedestrian and the corner policeman. It can be heard eight miles. I will put this horn on your machine complete for $46. Where is the machine,
please, and when shall I put it on it?"

"The machine," said Mr. Binks, "is in the garage. You can put the horn on it now, but I don't want any automobile to make any noise that I cannot hear. Here is your check."

Five minutes later another suave gentleman called. "I am selling a new little silk bag to stand upright
on the floor part of the automobile and I know you will want one on your new car."

"Enough said," replied Mr. Binks.
Put the bag on the car and send me
the bill.

The third man came close in the wake of the second, and he was selling a "little device," said he, "to signal the corner policeman and other auto-mobileists. It is a wooden arm which gives the proper signals and operates from wire connections from a series of pedals under the foot of the driver. The wooden arm has a perfect hand on the end and the hand is gloved. The driver is not obliged to use his own arm at all in giving the street corner signals. The cost is—"

"Never mind the cost," said Mr.
Binks. "Put the wooden arm on my car. If you also have a wooden head for the driver you may put that on.
Good morning."

"I am selling a new automobile
whistle," announced the fourth caller.
It attaches to the exhaust and plays
a tune known as "Oh You Beautiful Doll." It is louder than a circus callopie, but more soothing to the ear.
It can be heard 14 miles, yet is quiet and restful."

"Put it on the car," said Mr.
Binks. "I want to be the first man in this town to have one."

"I have here a little hair-lifting device," said the fifth caller. "It attaches to the roof of the car and by simply pressing a button, with your foot the driver can lift his hat to a lady and not take his hands off the operating department of the car. It takes up very little space and is a very attractive accessory."

"Put it on my car," said Mr. Binks.
Up until noon the first day gentleman called and sold Mr. Binks the following:

Patent cigar lighter to attach to
the dash.
Curling iron, electrically operated.
Fireless cooker to attach to the back of the car like a trunk.
Cellarette to go under the back seat.

Patent electric sign with Mr.
Binks' name.
Hand washstand to attach to the back of the front seat.
Soap dishes, medicine chest and toilet set.

Mr. Binks went home to lunch and hasn't been at his office since. He is thinking of moving to California, if the accessories have left enough room in his car to get his family into it.

The Signs of the Times.
Methodist ministers are talking about a minimum salary for pastors.
Most of the pastors get a minimum salary now.

A politician in Tennessee without a gun is no politician at all.
Water and spring feel so much alike nowadays that it takes a smart

PART ONE—In the unsettled

Far North, Mr. Cummings, who is the foreman of the Canadian Lumber Company, lives with his daughter, Marie, in their cabin
of logs on the mountain

particularly hard winter,
their quiet life is disturbed by groans, and on opening the door,
Mr. Cummings finds Jan Larose,
a young French-Canadian, lying helpless in the snow. He brings him in, doctors his frost-bitten hands and Marie nurses him back to health. The young people become very fond of each other and after Jan's recovery, Marie's father gives him employment with his company. By hard work and thrift, Jan acquires quite a bank account. He still further augments his sav-

Guide and Rodman, with a Government Surveyor, which occupation takes him away from Marie.

While he is absent, Clarry O'Garry, who has broken his leg, crawls to the Cummings' cabin, and asks for help. He is taken in and Mr. Cummings acts
the Good Samaritan and cares for the injured man. During his stay, he falls desperately in love with Marie. She is a goodhearted and good-natured girl
and while she finds Clarry entertaining, she doesn't appeal to her in the same way as Jan,
with whom she is very much in love. One day Jan returns unexpectedly from his surveying trip and finds Marie teasing Clarry in a coquettish way, and at once Jan becomes very jealous and tells her that since she loves another, he will soon take his departure and never return.
She tries to reason with him without committing herself, but this does not appease Jan. One day Jan and Clarry meet in the woods. They exchange hot words and grapple with each other in desperate combat. Jan, although a smaller man, is exceedingly wiry, and overpowers Clarry leaving him beaten; and making his way further into the forest, he is determined never to see Marie again.

During his travels he discovers gold on the banks of Pelican Creek and stakes the land for a claim. He hastens to the Claim Office to register his rich find. Later the same day, Clarry, who has followed Jan, discovers Jan's stake and he replaces the claim with his own.
He then takes up the race with Jan for the Recorder's Office, and both reach there at the same time.

PART TWO.—They both
lay claim to the stake and the Recorder, to settle it, is obliged to send an agent to investigate
it. After a lapse of six days the agent returns and reports that it is an open question who made it first. It is then agreed that the men restake the claim by making a simultaneous start;
the one reaching the point first to take possession. Preparations are made for the contest. Both men start in birch bark canoes

with Indian aides. The race through whirling rapids and surging torrents is a terrific
one. They are put to a superhuman test of endurance. When they traverse one stream, they are obliged to make a portage across land to the next. In preparation for the race, O'Garry has had his Indian guide hide
a canoe on the last portage, so he would not have to carry his own canoe, thus gaining by the trick an advantage over Jan.
Clarry reaches the last portage first, leaves his canoe on the bank and hastens on to secure the hidden boat. When Jan and his aide reach the land they discover that O'Garry has left his canoe behind. They suspect his trickery. While they are crossing this piece of land, the forests are seen to be in a blaze.
It is a perfect holocaust and laps everything before it. O'Garry reaches the place where he has hidden the canoe and finds it burnt and then he waits with his Indian companion the coming of Jan and his aide. They meet and in the midst of the fiery and smoking furnace, the two men engage in deadly battle, while their Indian guides are in fierce combat, each striving to prevent the other from assisting either of the two white men, who, with the ferocity of beasts fight on until Jan is crushed by a falling tree. With his leg broken, he lies helpless.
He cries for mercy. At the same time O'Garry gives a screach of pain as the fire and smoke pierce his eyes, and make him sightless. If they remain where they are, they will be cremated by the insatiable flames. They realize their fate and quickly each agrees to help the other. Clarry lifts Jan
from the ground and places him upon his back. He must furnish the means of locomotion and Jan will provide the sight. Thus they are enabled to make their escape to the water's edge
where they are met by Mr. Cummings and Marie, who, seeing the forest fire, have paddled down stream and are led to the two men by their cries for help.
Marie and her father assist them
into their canoe and bring them safely to their home.

After weeks of care and nursing, both men recover from their injuries. All anger and animosity have left them. They have learned their lesson and found how dependent we are upon each other and there is something of greater value in life than the possession of gold. The final test of their strength is their love for Marie and she makes Jan her choice. Clarry congratulates Jan and is glad to admit that Marie's happiness is his own. Both men are anxious that the other take possession of the rich strike to which they had both laid claim, but finally they agree to share it and work it together, each anxious to help the other. The past is all forgotten in the tranquillity and strength of brotherly love.

Ambiguous.
Wife (Shaking her husband)—
"John, wake up! That's three times I've roused you. Now go and attend to the doors and windows; you don't expect me to shut up, do you?" Hub —(grouchily)—"I wish you would."

Different.
Jones—"James, I heard you using profanity to the horses this forenoon." Coachman—"No, suh; no, suh! I so very careful of de horses, suh! I was talking to my wife, suh!"

Pecvish.
"I had to kill my dog this morning."
"Was he mad?" "Well, he didn't seem any too well pleased."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

KING ALFONSO REACHES AGE OF TWENTY-SEVEN

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madrid, May 17.—King Alfonso, who was born May 17, 1886, celebrated his twenty-seventh birthday anniversary today. The people's admiration for the coolness and bravery displayed by the young king on the occasion of the latest attempt on his life was reflected in this birthday celebrations, which were more enthusiastic and more general throughout the kingdom than for some years past. During the various phases of the congratulatory messages were received at the royal palace, together with many valuable presents from the sovereigns of Europe and personal friends of the king.

SAYS PROGRESSIVES WILL NOT GO BACK

William H. Hinebaugh.

Representative William H. Hinebaugh, one of the Bull Moose congressmen from Illinois, says all this talk from Republicans about the Bull Moosers going back to the G. O. P. is nonsense. He says the standpoint element in the Republican party is in control and will not eliminate itself.
"It is not for a moment to be presumed," says Hinebaugh, "that the old-time standpat men who believe their position is the only correct one will eliminate themselves in a convention called and controlled by themselves."

SUFFRAGE SOCIETY HAS MEETING TODAY

Rock County Organization Enjoys Interesting Discussion at Session This Afternoon.
Members of the Rock county woman's suffrage society met at the library hall this afternoon and enjoyed an interesting program dealing with various phases of the suffrage work in state and nation. One feature of the session was the reading of a letter from a non-militant worker in London which treated of the British situation from the side of the women opposed to fire and gunpowder methods.
The two suffrage parades, in Washington and New York, were also discussed by different members and other phases of the state and national work was taken up. Some important matters of business from the national headquarters were scheduled for consideration.
The announcement that the Rock county society was the first county organization in the state to make application for membership in the newly formed state woman's suffrage association, the union of the two old societies, was greeted with enthusiasm as indicating the large amount of interest in the suffrage cause in this section of the state.
Arrangements for the meeting today were made at a meeting of the committee held in this city last Saturday at which Mrs. W. P. Leek of Beloit, and Mrs. Ralph Richardson of Milton were present. Mrs. J. W. Laughlin, president of the society, presided at the session this afternoon.

Heart to Heart Talks

By JAMES A. EDGERTON

HELEN KELLER.
I think I have heard you complain of handicaps, of obstacles, in the way of your success.
I advise you to study the career of Helen Keller. Then if you are not ashamed of your complaints there is no hope for you.
Helen Keller is blind and deaf. Being deaf, she is also dumb.
Yet today she is a well educated woman, known in many lands, a writer of ability whose work is eagerly sought by the best imagines, a lecturer who is heard by cultured audiences.
What are your obstacles compared to hers?
You have all five senses. You can read for yourself, write with your own hand, speak without being taught by a long difficult and laborious process.
You have five senses where she has but three. But the two which she lacks are those most needed for education and expression. Therefore you possess more than five chances to her three for winning success.
Yet she has won out, won in a notable and noble way. You, then, should be ashamed to fail.
Immersed in her sightless and soundless dungeon, Helen Keller had the will to win. That is the secret. Have you the will to win?
Having the will, she also worked and induced others to help her work. Are you afraid to work?
There are no obstacles so great but what there may be a will great enough to overcome them.
It is simply a question of measuring up to your opportunities and to the part you would play.
You say you can't write or speak. Certainly you can write and speak if you have anything to say.
You say you have no money. Lack of money did not prevent the world's very greatest men and women from arriving at the goal.
Read the list of the immortals. How many of them had money?
It is so with all imaginary or real difficulties. If you have the will and energy you can find a way around or over them.
Remember Helen Keller. She found a way.
So can you.

WHICH?

One hundred years ago your great-grandfather traveled in an ox cart, but in that day he could do no better. Today we have the electric and steam cars. Are you going to stick to the old ox cart just because your great-grandfather did? You can do better, but he did not have the chance.
One hundred years ago if a patient had a fever, he was roasted with hot baths and not allowed to have water to drink and then blood was drawn from him. Superstition also played a great part in the treatment of the sick at that time. Things have changed. Today you can have the cause of your diseased condition located and removed. Do you wish to accept the NEW METHOD OF REMOVING THE CAUSE or do you desire to travel in the old way? This new method—Chiropractic—is without doubt, the greatest drugless method of the twentieth century. If you wish to know if Chiropractic is applicable to your case, call on me or write me, stating your trouble, and I shall be glad to inform you whether or not it is worth while for you to take adjustments. Your health depends on the condition of your spinal column. If the spine is right the man is right. If you are sick your spine is wrong. We do not heal, treat or cure disease, but by Spinal Adjustments remove the cause and Nature restores health.

Here Are Testimonials of Two Well Known Janesville Citizens:

F. W. MILLER, D. C.
Dear Sir: I have been a sufferer from constipation, kidney trouble and sick headache. Have had constipation for 20 years and would have sick headaches at least once a week. Finally I heard of F. W. Miller, the Chiropractor, and having Chiropractic explained to me, it looked so reasonable that I decided to try it. I gained from the first adjustment, and am physically and mentally a new woman. My constipation and sick headaches are gone; my kidneys are good. I would earnestly recommend Chiropractic adjustments to all that are in poor health, no matter what their illness may be. I wish you to make use of this statement for the benefit of others who may be dragging through a miserable existence as I was doing before I heard of Chiropractic.

I have been a sufferer from lumbago and stiff back for 15 years. I would also have severe cramps in my arms every night. I could not bend over to lace my shoes. Hearing of you and the wonderful results of Chiropractic Adjustments, I decided to try them and now after taking a course of adjustments of you, I am in better condition than I have been in many years.

Side Lights On The Circus Business

By
D. W. WATT

(Copyrighted.)

Only a few days ago I was stopped on the street by a lady who assured me that he family had read my show articles every Saturday night and that they were most interesting. She said one of the first things that the boys and girls would ask for would be for the father to read all about the show business.

"But she said, 'I'd like to have you tell me, were all these successful showmen bachelors or widowers? I should think especially at just this time it would be a good thing for you to tell us something about the wives of these men and what part they took in the business if any.'"

"I assured her that later I would tell her something about these women and what they did while on the road."

Of course the first one I knew in the business was Mrs. Burr Robbins. She was one of the best business women that I ever knew and every afternoon and evening you would find her taking tickets, the main entrances to the big show, and after the show was over or at least after the people had all gotten into the show, Mrs. Robbins would immediately go to work and count up the house.

In all the years I was with Burr Robbins, Mrs. Robbins was always on duty and put in more hours a year around with the show than did Mr. Robbins himself. For the reason that his duties would occasionally call him away from the show, while she was there and looked after the interests. Many times during the week performances and working men would break and want to borrow a few dollars till salary day and many times they would think to themselves that they had bothered me often enough and would not call on me again, but would go to Mrs. Robbins where they knew they could always borrow a little money until pay day.

She carried a little day book in her hand and would always charge it to them and the first thing they would do on receiving their salary would be to pay their little debt to Mrs. Robbins. Many a time when Mr. Robbins could have some grievance or difficulty with a performer or working man and they could not agree and sometimes harsh words would be said, after it was over Mrs. Robbins was always there to make peace and smooth things over and did it in a way that would leave the impression with them that she was their friend. Many times both winter and summer Mrs. Robbins looked after the welfare of many an old timer that stayed with them the year round.

I was next with the Adam Forepaugh show in eighteen hundred and eighty two and the first Mrs. Forepaugh had died many years before this so that the first two years of my work there Mr. Forepaugh was a widower. In the summer of eighty four he married his second wife, who by the way was an old neighbor and friend of the family in Philadelphia, and much younger than Mr. Forepaugh. The new Mrs. Forepaugh joined the show immediately and was one of the best balances that I ever knew round by business institution. She was not long in winning the love and esteem of every one connected with the show and whenever any man or woman around the show was injured in any way or if they happened to be killed, Mrs. Forepaugh was one of the first to find out what she could do to help them. She always occupied an easy chair at the main entrance of the show with Mr. Forepaugh and after the crowds had all gotten into the show, the ticket boxes would be sent to the wagon and Mr. and Mrs. Forepaugh would count the afternoon or evening receipts as the case might be. These were all charged up to me and I had to make good for everything taken in at the main entrance. While Mr. Forepaugh died many years ago, Mrs. Forepaugh is still living in a fine residence in Philadelphia and also has a summer home at Atlantic City.

After Mr. Forepaugh's death the show was purchased by the Barnum show, James A. Bailey and James E. Cooper being the purchasers. James E. Cooper with his family came on to Philadelphia and took charge of the show. Mr. Cooper had a private car, one of the best that I ever saw, and his wife and family were always with the show. The family consisted of two boys and a girl, but for all none of them ever took any active part in the show except Mr. Cooper himself, they were always there, had their own private car and lived in it from season to season. James E. Cooper was a young man and the youngest brother of Mrs. James A. Bailey, was the acting manager and he too had his wife with him. They also had a private car of their own. So you can readily see that the wives of these show men, while some of them were not so prominent in the business their influence over the people of all kinds around the show was more than the ordinary person could imagine.

As for Mr. and Mrs. James A. Bailey, while I never traveled with them, I knew them very well and they were always to be found together. They never had any children, but for all their years in the show business they traveled in their private car which was practically their home for about eight months in the year. Many years ago Mr. Bailey built a beautiful home on the Hudson river and it was there that they spent their time during the winter months. The last time the Barnum show was here I had a long visit with Mr. Bailey and I said to him, 'You've got all the money that one man should have and as you are now seventy years of age I should think you'd go out of the business.'"

He said, "It is not at all likely that I will ever quit the show business. I think I'm better satisfied here than I would be out of it." This was only about six months before he died, which was in April the following year, while his great show was going on in Madison Square Garden.

Many of the older residents in Janesville will recollect John Dillon, the comedian who was a great asset in Janesville more than forty years ago. Mr. Dillon was high

BATTLE OF VICKSBURG WAS FIFTY YEARS AGO

These were stirring time fifty years ago when the Confederacy was making its last stand against the union forces. In the west the battle of Vicksburg was one of the crucial engagements of the war and the following account published in the Gazette of June 4, 1863, is the story as told by an eye-witness, the late Col. W. B. Britton.

Rear of Vicksburg, in Rifle Shot of the Enemy's Camp, May 23, 1863.

We have just been through one of the most desperate undertakings of the war. After four days' constant fighting and bombarding, yesterday was selected as the day to assault the enemy's works and to try to take them by storm. Blair's division of our corps (Sherman's) led the way at 10 o'clock and succeeded in getting to the walls of the forts and planted the flag thereon, but meeting with such resistance they fell back, and at 3 p. m. General Howard commanded the 2nd brigade to which we were attached, was called on by General Sherman to charge through a ravine and enter the works by a road near one of the forts.

The movement commenced in earnest; as we entered the ravine all the guns were trained on the brigade marching by the flank in four ranks, and it can better be imagined than described how men were slaughtered as we entered the ravine; so many men were killed and wounded that the road was clogged up so as to prevent some parts of the brigade from getting through. Then companies from our regiment and the 5th Minnesota were turned to the right at this place and fled under cover of a hill and the five of Waterhouse's heavy. The enemy threw shells with such accuracy as to explode four in succession within fifteen yards of us. One blew a limber, chest of the battery but without injuring any one.

The Chaplain of Company F was killed, Capt. Estee mortally wounded, Col. Jefferson lost one finger, and many others in the regiment and brigade horribly mangled, and many and we got immediately under the works but to enter in four ranks would be madness. We fought them in darkness closed the scene. As a rebel would stick his head above the works a hundred shots would be sent at him.

The artillery is constantly engaged and the mortar and bombards are throwing shell night and day. Our line extends from above Vicksburg on the river to Warrentown below, and one can get in or out as they please. My attempt will be made to carry their works by storm again. We have them tight, and they must surrender or come out and fight. We will meet them in the morning, their works cheerfully but to undertake to carry the place by assault cannot be done, in my opinion, for we have been up and had a look at the thing and are pretty well satisfied. We are not whipped, we hold all we have gained. Our sharpshooters are directly under their works and it is almost impossible for them to load their guns for fear of being shot down.

We have continued since we landed at Grand Gulf, 98 pieces of artillery and 800 caissons, the latter we abandoned at Jackson. We captured in one fight at Jackson 28 pieces of artillery. Our regiment brought through 12 pieces, one the Lady Lee captured by the enemy at Shipoh. At Jackson it is estimated that we destroyed government property to the amount of six million dollars. We burned 1800 hogsheds of sugar, all the cotton factories, 1,600 bales of cotton, railroad bridges, ferry boats, penitentiary will all weapons, the confederate house cost $250,000, equipment enough to fit out 10,000 men, ammunition by the ton, two cannon factories, arsenals and workshops of all kinds.

We have been successful in all the battles since we landed in Mississippi, and will be successful here. We are in good spirits and will soon have the river open. We have slept out doors for twenty-two nights without tents, been three days and only had four meals to eat, half rations the remainder of the time. We are laying now on the battlefield, many of us with the graves of our fallen comrades for pillows and through out I never saw less dissatisfaction than in this campaign. Each one seems to feel as if the whole thing depended on himself. Company G has had one man wounded and some missing.

W. B. BRITTON, 3th W. I. V.

STATUE OF MERCURY IS LATEST CHOICE FOR TOKEN

Senior Class Has Its Own Difficulties Concerning An Appropriate Gift to the School.

The senior class of the high school are still having considerable trouble concerning the class token which they will present to the school in June. President Kuhlow called another meeting yesterday noon and the class have now changed the gift from a silver cup to a statue of Mercury. This token seems to have more favor than the cup, although there is still some dissatisfaction. It may be necessary to call a third meeting to settle the token trouble, but it is hoped that the majority of the class still favor the Mercury statue.

Miss Jessie Pruher, who has the class song, has it almost written. It will comprise all of the latest popular hits, and this year will be very attractive. She has spent much of her time on this song, and she expects to have it ready Monday.

DINNER STORIES

Colonel Winter Wimberly, of Macon, Ga., enjoys a wide reputation as a story teller in Georgia, that land of story tellers. Colonel Wimberly was once engaged in a case in which the plaintiff's son, a lad of eight years, was to appear as a witness.

When the youngster entered the box he wore shoes several sizes too large, a hat that almost hid his face, long trousers, rolled up so that the baggy knees were at his ankles, and to complete the picture, a swallow-tailed coat that had to be held to keep it from sweeping the floor.

This ludicrous picture was too much for the court, but the judge between his spasms of laughter, managed to ask the boy his reasons for appearing in such garb.

With wondering look the lad fished in an inner pocket and hauled the summons from it, pointing out a sentence with a solemn mien as he did so.

"To appear in his father's suit," it read.

A fire insurance agent tells this one.

"We have some funny experiences in our business. One day a small merchant of the bill section came to me and insured his stock of ready-made clothing for $3,500. He was going out with the policy when I reminded him that he had forgotten to pay the premium.

"How much is it?" inquired my customer.

"Oh, just a little matter of $24." "Well," said he, "suppose you just let the premium stand and deduct it when the store burns down."

It cured my wife of a severe bronchial cold after all other remedies failed. It will do the same for you if you are suffering with a cold or any bronchial, throat or lung cough. PAINTING of the house is to some persons a matter of business calculation; to others a matter of appearance. Neither aspect of the question should be overlooked, but, for most property owners, the vital question can be stated in dollars and cents.

A well painted house is true economy, because proper painting at reasonable intervals prevents the woodwork of the building from deteriorating. It also has a vastly beneficial effect on the market value of the house that is for sale.

An economical paint is characterized by covering or spreading power—by clear, unfading tones, and by durability. And it is by these three standards that a paint should be judged.

This applies not only to exterior painting, but to interior decoration as well.

The knowledge of what is right in the way of paint and how and when such paint should be applied means a saving of many dollars to the houseowner.

Fourth Centenary to be Observed This Year—Republic of Panama Expresses Its Friendship.

[By Associated Press.]

Madrid, May 17.—The fourth centenary of the discovery of the Pacific Ocean by Vasco Nunez de Balboa is to be celebrated this year and the President of Panama, Belisario Porras, has sent a letter to King Alfonso, assuring his Majesty of Panama's friendship to Spain. Balboa, the Spanish gold-seeker and adventurer, first saw the Pacific Ocean from the Isthmus of Panama.

President Porras sets forth that the bonds of kinship between Spain and the Hispanic-American nations are ever growing closer and announces that the Panama National Assembly has decided to commemorate this centenary by a competition of lyric poetry by an exposition in which Spain is specially asked to participate and by the erection at the entrance of the Panama Canal on the Atlantic Ocean of a colossal statue of Balboa, the cost to be defrayed by public subscription. He asks the king to place his name first on the list of donors.

The Spanish Government has decided to celebrate the centenary by organizing at Seville a congress of Hispanic-American history and geography and an exposition of the precious documents from the archives of the Indies and the Columbian library relative to the conquest and exploration of the New World by the Spaniards. The congress and exposition, which will serve as a fitting prelude to the great Hispanic-American Exposition being organized for 1919 at Seville, will open on September 25 next, the anniversary of the discovery of the Pacific by Balboa in 1513.

Important Announcement to the Ladies of Janesville and Vicinity

Lewis & Strasburg to Open Ladies' Tailoring and Fur Establishment Women Generally Will Be Interested In This Announcement and What It Portends.

WE have arranged for the rental of the Peters building, main floor, No. 117 East Milwaukee Street, for five years, and will move our establishment there on or about August 1st, in which we will conduct a Ladies' Tailoring and Fur Store, the finest of its kind in this part of the state.

We are both experts in our respective lines. Mr. Lewis will conduct the fur business, and Mr. Strasburg who is well known in Janesville, will have charge of the ladies' tailoring section. Garments and furs put out by this new firm will be all man-tailored on the premises, under the personal supervision of the proprietors. Each garment or fur piece will be distinctively individual. Suggestions from our patrons will always be carried out if they are at all consistent. The personal wishes of our patrons will not be overlooked in the making. Your garment or fur made here will, therefore, express more or less of your own individuality and taste.

Until the remodeling of our new home is completed we will be at Mr. Lewis' old location, corner East Milwaukee and Main streets, upstairs, over Ziegler's. We shall be glad to take care of any fur work and ladies' tailoring that you may need for the present. Very reasonable charges prevail.

MUST SUIT TRAFFIC

Important Point in the Construction of Roads.

NEED OF THE PROPER DATA

American Automobile Association
Makes Assertion That Many Highways Are Ruined Because Necessary Information at the Start Was Lacking.

Recognition of the fact that more information is needed in determining the proper type of construction for any given section of road, the national good roads board of the American Automobile association is convinced that proper steps should be taken in every state in the Union to gather such data as will show the number, character and approximate weights of vehicles passing over the principal roads.

The failure of many roads to stand up under the traffic is due, not as many persons suppose to inferior materials and workmanship, but to the lack of preliminary information as to the traffic the road was expected to stand. Consequently roads have been built which would have lasted for years under other travel conditions; now they are ruins, due to the absence of data which the engineering profession in any other branch of their work would have considered essential. On this subject the Engineering Record says:

"Without knowing the wear a road has, there is absolutely no way of telling whether it is good or bad; only a careful traffic census can determine this. Roads too costly have been constructed in some places; in other places roads unsuited to the traffic have been built. In view of this well-known fact it is evident that a traffic census is an essential to economy in nearly all road building. Imagine a bridge designer making plans for a structure without anything more than a rough guess whether it was to be used by steam railways or trolley cars, and we have an idea of the absurdity of proceeding with road building without traffic data."

Illinois in 1907 caused to be enumerated the travel over the roads at a few important points, and in March, 1913, Highway Engineer Johnson writes: "I am sure we never collected any data, on which I feel that I can place greater reliability than our traffic census data. It has been, all things considered, the most satisfactory investigation that we have ever attempted."

Massachusetts tried taking a traffic census in 1909, and went into the subject on a larger scale in 1912. In August and October, 1912, counts were made at 160 stations at different points in the state, each covering a full week of time, and twelve to eighteen hours a day, according to location. The results enable the highway commission to make plans for not only carrying the present travel, but also to provide for the increase that is bound to come.

It is considered, in view of the rapid changes in traffic and traffic conditions being rapidly and constantly made, that traffic census should be provided at least four times a year, of at least a week at each period; and should cover the principal roads entering every city in a state. To be of real value the census should continue for a series of years, in order to establish a proper knowledge of the ratio of increase. After a few years, and the establishment of practical standards from which estimates could be made, so great frequency of count would not be necessary.

Provisions for traffic census in most states will require the enactment of special laws and special appropriations. Compared with the saving which would be effected in road construction the expense would be trivial. The figures, when made and properly collated, would be the basis on which all highway planning would rest.

Oil a Dirt Catcher.

Oil on a motor is a most prolific dirt catcher, and dirt has no place about the automobile. If it hangs in masses outside it is apt to get inside of the slightest opportunity, as in fitting a new spark plug. Besides, it does not look well. Occasionally a driver will find one side of the motor dripping with oil, mysteriously appearing from nowhere, and especially plentiful after a hard run. The oil probably has been splashed up through the crankcase breather. If the case has not been filled too full of oil a brass tube carrying three baffle plates should be fitted inside the breather. This will stop the splashing out.

Oil in Rear Axle.

When noise cannot be reduced by adjusting the bevel pinion of a rear axle, and it is known that sufficient lubrication with a suitable grade of oil is being provided, then the bearings may be suspected and the axle should be examined by an expert. The introduction of graphite into the oil used in a rear axle mechanism is claimed to be very beneficial, but the use of sawdust, etc., in this manner to reduce noise is a very poor makeshift, which is bad mechanically and otherwise.

Inside Sleeve.

The inside sleeve, made of rubbered fabric, and an inner tube one-half inch smaller in diameter than the casing usually calls for, will make an almost "trouble-proof" pneumatic tire.

Reliability-Beauty-Comfort

Do You Want Them In Printer's Ink
Or In Your Car?

It's an easy matter to prepare and print advertisements and catalogs glowing with praise.

Judge the car you buy by its record—not by printer's ink. Look into its parts, not its advertisements.

When you've paid out your money, what do the advertisements with their glowing terms mean to you in the way of reliability—beauty—durability—economy—comfort?

When you pay over your money be sure of what you are getting.

There are good cars, lots of them, made as good as their makers know how, and plenty of bad cars, too, cars made merely to sell. They look fine while new, they even run passably well while new, but there's no heart in them. Their makers did not put it there. They quit under a strain—give out—and the repair bills begin.

Be sure you are getting a car that has made good. Look into the record and get the car that has come through the hardest tests unpenalized. Such a car will long be your most prized possession.

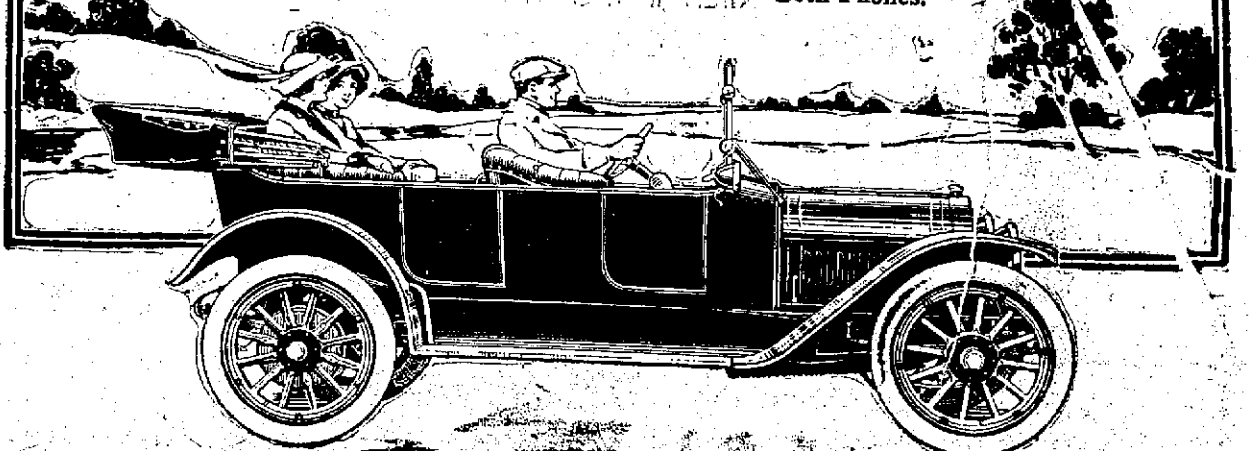

The Dreadnought Moline is such a car. It leads all cars of its class in endurance, reliability and sturdiness, the qualities which make it a stranger to the repair shops.

The steady growth of the powerful company behind this superb car is the result of its far-sighted policy of giving its customers exactly what they think they are getting, just as they want it, when they want it, a policy which further protects you now and for future years. It will be a pleasure to demonstrate this car to you.

Price Cutting on Automobiles

SALESMANSHIP has been defined as "selling goods at a profit." Any one can give things away, or sell them so far below cost that it is equivalent to giving them away, in so far as any legitimate profit is concerned.

Prospective automobilists are offered about every so often "a fine line of cars at a cut price." In mostly every instance the people back of the offer are nothing more or less than pirates in the automobile business. They have no established business, cannot back up their sales after they are made, are in no position to render efficient service to the car owner should his machine go wrong, do not care "two whoops" about you or your car after they have your money, in fact, merely sell you a car for the sake of the sale, not hoping to benefit you nor themselves, but intending to "break into" the automobile business and run some reputable, established dealer out. All of which has been tried in other lines of business and has not worked. It is not in the order of things. It will not work out in this instance.

It is needless to say that it isn't necessary to cut the price to sell this car. It sells itself. When the price cutter sells as many of his "cut price" cars as we do Overlands he'll be in big business. He'll sell 75 cars in a season and not make any money—or friends.

Municipal Affairs Of Vital Interest

APPLETON POLICE OFFICERS MUST SALUTE SUPERIORS

Appleton, Wis.—Members of the Appleton police force must hereafter salute the mayor and superior officers when making reports or passing on the street when on duty. This is one of the new rules adopted by the fire and police commission, which went into effect today. The rules compile to each other by their own pages. The force is to be divided: Chief, who shall be on duty from 7 o'clock in the morning until 6 o'clock at night; one captain, who acts as night chief, being on duty from 6 o'clock at night until 6 o'clock at night; one evening until 6 o'clock at night; one morning. He is obliged to make rounds of inspection on those on patrol duty; two sergeants, one to be on duty at each station at night and the other during the day; one clothes man; and patrolmen. The chief is held responsible to see that there are no disorderly houses in the city. Patrolmen are not allowed to leave their beats without proper authority except on official business. Applicants for the force must be between 25 and 40 years of age shall not weigh less than 150 pounds.

MADISON MAY INSTALL MUNICIPAL LABORATORY

(State Journal.) Food Inspector S. P. Kennedy recommended to the council that a city bacteriological laboratory be fitted up soon and that some method of farm inspection be instituted so as to make more effective the work of the department. Some of the main facts in Mr. Kennedy's report to the council for the month follow: There were 98 milk and cream licenses issued to dealers; there were 5 cases in which milk and cream delivered to Madison did not come up to standard; tuberculosis tests have been ordered on 28 herds this month; 106 inspections and 227 tests were made by the inspector in April. Eight animals suspected of having tuberculosis have been found, and six positive reacting animals have been condemned. The report says that quite a little difficulty has been found in enforcing the new regulation requiring customers to wash the bottles and cans before returning to the dealer, but it is thought that in time the matters will be satisfactory. The site for the laboratory proposed by the department is in the old fire station on Webster street. At present the city makes use of a laboratory at the university.

BAVARIAN GOVERNMENT HAS NEW USE FOR AUTOS

Bamberg, Bavaria, The Bavarian government has found a new use for automobiles employed by the Post Office Department, by using them in the danger of great conflagrations in rural districts is minimized. If a big fire breaks out in any of the villages further than ten miles from a city, the fire engine of the nearest city is attached to the postal automobile and hauled at high speed to the point of danger. As only the larger German cities have motor fire departments, the assistance of the postal motor cars is invaluable to the fire fighting villages. The first practical test of the plan was made in Bamberg. The village asked the city for help and a small fire engine was fastened to the rear of the automobile. The run was made in thirty-four minutes, and the assistance rendered by this engine was of great value in extinguishing the fire.

ASHES FROM CREMATORY VALUED BY GARDENERS

Spokane, Wash.—City Crematory Superintendent Arthur E. Peterson, conducting a brisk business in crematory ashes, has discovered a waste product, but discovered by Mr. Peterson to be a valuable fertilizer. In 100-pound sacks of by the ton, large quantities of the ash are being sold to gardeners in Spokane and vicinity and residents who want to enrich their lawns. In regard to value of the ash as fertilizer and how to use it, Mr. Peterson has issued the following: "The ash contains about 13 per cent. air-slacked lime, 7 per cent. phosphoric acid, of which approximately 3 per cent. is soluble in water and less than 1 per cent. potash. These elements constitute the valuable fertilizer ash. The balance of the ash consists of silica, iron, magnesium and moisture. None of these latter elements are in such quantity as to retard plant growth or in any way—Municipal Journal.

MUNICIPAL LIGHT PLANT CONSIDERED IN KENOSHA

The old question of considering a municipal lighting plant for the city of Kenosha promises to come up very soon. The city council, during the next few months, and members of the committee on lights are skirmishing about already getting figures on the cost of such a plant. The contract for the lighting of the city streets is to expire on August 8th of this year and the dissatisfaction over the service that has been furnished by the Wisconsin Gas & Electric company during the past few months is largely responsible for the agitation about the idea of a municipal plant. The members of the committee on gas and light have taken the matter up informally and with a view of acting intelligently. The city attorney has been asked by the city attorney as to just what would be necessary to secure municipal lighting for the city. The municipal light plant is by no means a new proposition.

RACINE SEALER CONFISCATES SHORT WEIGHT STRAWBERRIES

(Racine Journal-News.) Dennis Fitzgerald, local sealer of weights and measures, this morning seized about 20,000 boxes of strawberries, sent in from Chicago to different merchants. These boxes were supposed to contain one quart of berries, but the sealer discovered they were twenty-four and seven tenths short of the quart. According to report this practice has been carried on by the Chicago people for a long time. The sealer is watching all measures very carefully and proposes that the laws shall be adhered to.

TO PUT DOWN CONDUITS DESPITE COMMISSION ORDER

(Madison State Journal.) Several block of conduits will soon be placed under ground on Carroll and Main streets by the Madison Gas & Electric company. The city passed a resolution ordering the company to do much of this work on Carroll and Langdon streets some time ago but the railroad commission reversed the order, declaring that the business of the company did not warrant the expenditure of what money it would

MADISON PLEASURE DRIVES OPENED TO AUTOMOBILES

The board of directors of the Madison Park and Pleasure Drive association has engaged former City Engineer John F. Ike to oil Farwell drive from the La Pollette farm to Mendota hospital grounds and the Mendota drive from its entrance to the Merrill farm to the Sauk road. The board has also decided to permit the autos on the drives all day after the work of oiling has been completed. Signs during the auto drivers not to run their cars faster than 12 miles an hour will be posted along the drives. Present E. N. Warner said yesterday that the board fixed the speed limit at 12 miles to avoid accidents—State Journal.

OSHKOSH BRIDGE BONDS PURCHASED BY CITIZENS

Oshkosh people appear to be taking kindly to the opportunity offered them by the city of Oshkosh for the investment of their surplus cash by purchasing some of the West Algonia street bridge bonds, which are issued in denominations of $1,000 and $500 and draw interest of 4 1/4 per cent, payable annually. As stated by The Northwestern, Tuesday, the commission council decided to give out today the first check to purchase these bonds and announced that the city treasurer would receive applications for ten days. Wednesday was the first day and City Treasurer White closed his office at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. These applications represented a total of $15,400 and ranged in amount from $100 to $10,000. Several more applications were received today and it is already apparent that the people believe the bonds are a good thing to invest in. They are to run for twenty years—Northwestern.

PLAYROOM FOR CHILDREN OF JUVENILE COURT

Chicago—A playroom for children who are involved in the juvenile court was formally opened yesterday on the tenth floor of the county building. The cheerless waiting room with its rough benches has been transformed into a children's paradise by the addition of a woman representative of the juvenile protective league will be in charge.

Monkeys for Zoo.

A dozen monkeys from the New York Zoological gardens will arrive in Madison May 27, consigned to Keeper M. J. Quinn of the Vilas park zoo. Cozy cages await their coming.

TRAINING SCHOOL NOTES.

The debate on consolidation of rural schools which was presented at the school conference at the county building, the cheerless waiting room with its rough benches has been transformed into a children's paradise by the addition of a woman representative of the juvenile protective league will be in charge.

Professor Dudley of Plattville normal will install a new Badger stereopticon soon. This is to be used for illustrative purposes. The county superintendent and the training school principal will co-operate in lecture tours in county districts, using the lantern for illustration. Rachel Ehrlinger, who has completed her first year of work in a country school, visited the training school on Friday.

The study of school law begins on Monday and continues the rest of the year. The state school code is used for this purpose. The organization and management of the district school system is especially studied. Frances Carroll, visited her friend, Frances McCabe at the school on Friday.

Margaret Mawhinney much to regret of her many friends, has dropped her school work in the training school. Superintendent Antisdel inspected the work of several practice classes on Wednesday. Principal Lowth will give a commencement address at Shopiere on Friday.

Marion Williams has the misfortune to have a mild case of the mumps, which necessitates her remaining out of school. The senior class is now settling the momentous question of class flower, class motto. The invitations will soon be ordered. The subjects of drawing and spelling will be discontinued the rest of the year. Physical culture and writing will receive special attention. Two senior boys in the next program deal with the technical subjects of school gardens and school journals.

Here are a few facts which will get some people right in the way of information concerning the training school: First—The school is small—not more than forty students are desired. Second—All of the students are girls, and mostly girls from the country. Third—The school has no connection whatever with the city system. Fourth—Two-thirds of the expenses are paid by the state of Wisconsin. Fifth—Graduates are expected to teach a rural school in Rock county for at least one year. Sixth—The school does only elementary work in common school subjects. Seventh—Each girl has one full year of professional work. Eighth—Many of the students are working their way and need to reduce expenses to the minimum. Ninth—The school is not a place of general training, but a school where young women are trained to teach a country school. Tenth—There are thirty training schools like the Rock county school in Wisconsin, and this state is the only one in the union which has such schools.

Friday afternoon Miss Jacobson and Miss Burdick took the training school students on an excursion for the purpose of studying birds. Two members of the graduating class will attend a summer school, and two will attend the institute in Janesville.

Alice Leothore will teach a country school in Chippewa county next year.

He Had a Vote. "It's all very well for educated women to vote," said an ardent anti to Mrs. Belmont, "but think how terrible it would be if your cook had a vote." "He has," replied Mrs. Belmont with a smile.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES

AMBITION

(By Howard L. Rana.)

AMBITION is an unseen force which gets behind a man and pushes him ahead of other people. Sometimes, however, it is seen in time so that it can be headed off at a primary election and thus reduce the number of boneheads in congress.

One of the saddest sights in this world is that of an ambitious man who has been nipped in the bud by an accident which has scratched tickets. Usually one thorough treatment of this description will discourage the candidate to such an extent that he won't even dare to run for night watch, and they are gone.

Will only spur him on to greater effort. Some of the most ambitious men in this country had to be walked on several times by a heavy surge of ambition before they got where they could distribute free seeds with one hand and pull down public buildings with the other. This kind of ambition is harder to restrain than the desire to murder a railroad street car conductor who steps heavily on your oxford while distributing transfers.

People consume most of their ambition in the winter, in the effort to keep from being frostbitten on both sides, so that when spring comes they have very little left for making garden or helping clean house. Many a husband goes through the winter with a heavy surge of ambition, only to have it ooze away in a large, mournful ooze when his wife wants him to hold a joint debate with a half bushel of seed potatoes. The only kind of ambition which will keep in warm weather is that which cuddles up to a fish pole or snuggles down behind the steering wheel of an automobile.

There is a good deal of wasted ambition floating around and playing three-cushion billiards on somebody else's time. If some of the ambition which is scattered around the clubs were harnessed up to real work, the sons of the idle rich might earn enough to defray their laundry bill and have something left for cigarette papers.

Finally, brethren, the kind of ambition which prevails in a firm wearing the same collar more than four weeks in succession is a pretty good investment.

ORFORDVILLE

Orfordville, May 17.—Rev. O. J. Kvale conducted burial services Thursday afternoon at the Lutheran church, over the remains of Mrs. Christie Knudson, of Brodhead. Mr. Olson, Mrs. Charles Erickson and Peter Olson were among the relatives from Brodhead who were in attendance at the funeral.

Little Florence Ashby was struck in the face by a ball of mud thrown by a boy playing at school Monday and one eye was seriously injured. At a time it was feared the eye might be permanently injured, but the doctor now thinks the member will soon be as good as ever.

Mr. and Mrs. August Whergang spent last week at the home of B. C. Postum, Plymouth.

The Misses Lydia Bernstein, Myrtle Greval and Rene Emminger came down from Brodhead Thursday afternoon to attend the luncheon and shower given Miss Essie Emminger at the home of Mrs. F. A. Cole.

John Fisher, R. G. Inman, E. T. Brown and D. Ryan of Janesville were in the party of friends who accompanied the remains of Mrs. Owens to this village on Wednesday.

William Krueger is the new night watchman and commenced his duties Thursday night. Conductor Teahay has resumed the Mineral Point run, Mrs. Teahay having improved in health to a hopeful degree.

Miss T. Tilly departs Monday for Montreal, sailing later in the week for England. At the regular morning service at the M. E. church, Rev. William Sainsbury will take for his text, "Life's Seares." There will be no evening services, the pastor preaching at Plymouth, Epworth League as usual at 7:15 p. m., the leading being T. E. Barnum.

The Household Economics Club will hold a meeting Tuesday next at the home of Mrs. J. P. Smiley. Mrs. J. B. Day of Janesville will be present and give an address. An elaborate luncheon will be served by the ladies. The teachers of our village school, Prof. Earl Harrop, Miss Amanda Mason and Miss Jennie Carney, have been retained for the coming school year at increased salary. Commencement exercises this year will take place June 6th.

Communion services at the Lutheran church in the village will be conducted Sunday morning by Rev. Ivar Ramseth. Mrs. J. S. Heleson and son are making a few days' visit with her parents. Anni and Egen and family, accompanied by Gerie Amundson, have moved to Gretna, Ontario.

Mrs. Ingeborg Onsgard of Beloit attended the funeral of Mrs. Knudson here yesterday. This afternoon members of the congregation of the Lutheran church of the village gave a reception to their pastor, Rev. O. J. Kvale and his wife. It was in the nature of a farewell, as Mr. Kvale departs shortly on a leave of absence. An extended notice will appear later.

MUNICIPAL PAGEANT NEW YORK VENTURE

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

New York, May 17.—The annual Municipal Street Pageant, intended to illustrate how Father Knickerbocker spends millions of dollars early for the benefit and welfare of the people was given today and was voted a huge success by the tens of thousands of spectators who lined the route of the procession. The centre of attraction for the youngsters was the Park Department division, which included

RINGWORM IN RED SPOTS ON FACE

Rough Crust on Top. Continually Worse. Spread Over Face and Legs. Terrible Itching and Burning. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured Completely.

Stratford, Iowa.—"Three years ago this winter my seven year old son had ringworm on the face. First it was in small red spots on the forehead, which had a rough crust on the top. When they started they looked like little red dots and then they got bigger, about the size of a bird's egg. They had a white rough ring around them, and grew continually worse and soon spread over his face and legs. The child suffered terrible itching and burning, so that he could not sleep nights. He scratched them and they looked fearful. He was cross when he had them. We used several bottles of Balmol, but nothing helped. I saw where a child had a rash on the face and was cured by Cuticura Soap and Ointment and I decided to use them. I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment about one month, and they cured my child completely. I cannot be thankful enough for it is terrible if a child's face is all broken out as ours was." (Signed) Mrs. Barbara Price, Janesville, Wis.

Cuticura Soap is best for skin and hair because of its extreme purity, delicate yet effective medication, and refreshing fragrance. It wears to a wafer and gives comfort and satisfaction every moment of its use, for toilet, bath and nursery. Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold everywhere. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston." For tender-faced men should use Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick, 25c. Sample free.

$100 From An Investment of 25c

One of the best "Want Advertisers" in Janesville says that he has very often made a profit of $100 and more from the insertion of one classified at a cost of 25c.

That's the beauty of this form of advertising, that the cost has nothing to do with the amount of results you may obtain. While the cost is always small yet transactions involving large farms running into many thousands of dollars are very often the result.

The explanation is this: The Gazette Classified Page daily reaches 6,000 homes, 30,000 people, the great majority are want advertisers and readers. Just a few lines on that page is read by 80% of the people of the county.

Stop That Cough In A Minute

Would you give morphine or chloroform to your baby or take it yourself? Of course not. Yet most patent cough cures contain one or both. They stop a cough in a minute, which is dangerous. A cough should be cured internally by healing the lungs, loosening the phlegm, throwing it out, which is done by coughing. Badger Cough Balm does not contain morphine or chloroform. It is made by percolation from bloodroot, lobelia, pine bark, wild cherry, etc. It cures a cough in a few days without filling the lungs with poisonous phlegm. The irritation is relieved, the lungs healed without danger of pneumonia. It's safe for children or old people. Get a bottle today for 25 cents. Badger Cough Balm is made by Mr. Pfennig, our Graduate Pharmacist and Chemist. Badger Drug Co., Milwaukee and River Sts.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, May 17, 1873.—On Saturday afternoon, May 24, Mr. Joseph Dunbar of Pennsylvania, has been called to the rectorship of Christ church but it is not known yet whether he accepts. There will be unusual lay service tomorrow morning. Mr. Dunbar was a classmate with Rev. Spaulding, formerly rector of the Christ church, now of Grace church Madison. He is highly commended and we trust that he may accept the call.

On Saturday evening, May 24, Mr. Joseph Jefferson will appear at the opera house in his great character of Rip Van Winkle. Mr. Jefferson needs no commendation from us, and we are assured that the company that he is associated with and individually competent to render that support without which no play can be rendered in a satisfactory manner. This is an opportunity seldom presented in this city to witness such a performance, and we trust that a full house will greet Mr. Jefferson.

Miss Florence, daughter of Jerry Dams, of Harmony, has reason to be proud of her pet Archana. Noting the remarks of a Milton jester on the subject of large eggs, she selected one from her stock, and sent it to us. Its circumference is 7 1/2, weight six ounces.

We are informed that the action of the common council in laying Wm. Buckingham's application for license for selling liquor on the table rose from a fact that Mr. Buckingham is not at present in the business. It is his intention to open a saloon at some future time, when his prayer for the license will be taken from the table and disposed of.

The persistence of the wind blowing from some cold point of the compass since the opening of spring is remarkable, as well as uncomfortable. Today we were favored with a brief breath from the south.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

IF YOU want to get your home thoroughly in order, if you want to finish those curtains which have been hanging for so long, if you want to be sure of getting that table which has been long an eyesore to you, resolved at last, in short, if you want a powerful motive that will force you to do and have done within a definite time the innumerable little things about the home which you have been putting off for the last six months, don't just make resolutions about these things—have a party.

Tomorrow is my neighbor's turn to entertain her bridge club. Two weeks ago she solicited advice as to the best shade for a new couch cover. "I've had that money that Uncle John gave me Christmas laid aside to get it," she explained, "and I need it shockingly, but I hate selecting a thing like that and I've been putting it off all this time. Now I suppose I'll have to get it done. But for those who are not so exemplary I repeat my suggestion—if you want to be sure to do and have done within a reasonable space of time, the thousand and one things which you have been putting off for the last six months, don't just resolve to 'do it now,' but send out your invitations for a party.

These are a few of her visible activities during the past two weeks. Doubtless she also attended to many other little odd jobs which were not public.

Tired and happy, she surveys her home tonight with an air of approval. "It is a perfect joy to me to see things looking as they should," she says, "and I'm going to try to keep them up."

Of course there are some people who never put off little odd jobs until "some day soon." THEY don't need any coercion to help them get things done. But for those who are not so exemplary I repeat my suggestion—if you want to be sure to do and have done within a reasonable space of time, the thousand and one things which you have been putting off for the last six months, don't just resolve to 'do it now,' but send out your invitations for a party.

The Kitchen Cabinet

275 flowery scents strewn everywhere.
New sunshine poured in largest fair.
We shall be happy now, we say:
A voice just trembles through the air
And whispers, "May."

VEGETABLE COMBINATIONS.

Macaroni and celery make a most desirable combination. Cook two heads of celery until tender, after cutting in lengths of about two inches; add a quarter of a pound of macaroni, and cook an hour without stirring or until the macaroni is tender and double its bulk. The age of macaroni and its state of dryness, as with rice, will determine the length of time for the cooking. Add a cup or two of white sauce, a generous sprinkling of cheese, and serve with broiled beefsteak.

Potatoes with green peppers are a change from the ordinary boiled potato. Cook as usual, then turn them when well drained into a vegetable dish with two tablespoonsful of softened butter and three of chopped sweet green peppers.

Italian Potatoes.—Mix two cups of hot mashed potatoes, one teaspoonful of onion juice, one tablespoonful of chopped parsley, one egg yolk well beaten, four stiffly beaten whites, one-half cup of grated cheese and salt and pepper to taste. Mix lightly in the baking dish and bake until brown.

Greens.—The earliest spring greens are the dandelion, which is a fine blood purifier. The young and tender shoots may be dressed with oil and vinegar and eaten, or cooked until tender and served with butter, or cooked with salt pork for the fat.

Cress and spinach, cowslips and chard are all with the best tops prepared and cooked in boiling water, except cress, which is eaten usually freshly picked and uncooked. Lettuce may also be cooked and served as a green with butter and vinegar. Greens are garnished with hard cooked eggs cut in various ways.

Beet Salad.—Cut six cooked eggs in cubes, marinate with French dressing, that is, add a few tablespoonsful of the dressing to the beets, and let stand an hour or two. Chop the whites of four hard cooked eggs until fine, press the yolks through a sieve, make a mound of the beets and garnish with the egg.

A HANDSOME FROCK OF FLEUR DE SOIE

Frock of pancy fleur de soie with hip girdle of dark violet satin. Blouse has scarf of check novelty silk forming collar in back and looped into girdle on each side of front. The chemise is of net ornamented with tiny white satin buttons and loops. Long kimono sleeves are banded on the upper part with tucked sections of material. The lacing of blouse continues down the front of Empire skirt below girdle. Skirt is slashed ankle height.

Clean wiping rags, free from books and buttons will bring 3 1/2 per pound. The children can earn money by bringing them to the Gazette office.

Domestic Science DEPARTMENT

CONDUCTED BY Mrs. Alice Gitchell Kirk

Men and women, boys and girls, by the hundred—what household with stores, shops and factories of congested districts in our cities. Most of them patronize the downtown lunch-rooms in overwhelming numbers which represent all kinds of food—soda fountain, lunch-cars and help yourself restaurants, to hotels, grills and clubs.

But when we speak of the average boy or girl's luncheon we have no vision of them sitting in the best restaurants or clubs, but any place where they can be "filled" for from 10 to 25 cents. They have only one desire when lunch hour comes and it is to satisfy that they call "hunger." If they did this the food they eat would be on an average a piece of pie, a pickle, a dish of ice cream and a cup of coffee.

One office boy said: "I have 15 cents for luncheon. I buy a bag of popcorn and spend the rest for pie."

When they eat this kind of food they are eating to pampered appetites and not to real hunger. I have often wondered when I have watched the orders of these boys and girls, why they do not eat after the afternoon, as no part of their bodies could possibly be rebuilt on such kind of fillings.

One office boy said: "I have 15 cents for luncheon. I buy a bag of popcorn and spend the rest for pie."

Every Day Talks For Every Day People...

Last Saturday I ordered a load of kindling from a local dealer. We are stopping till the end of the present school year in a house that has no fire, and I am making a necessary carry in all the fuel in baskets. This raises the price of a load fifty cents.

When the wood came Saturday I told my "wee ones" that if they would carry in the kindling they could have fifty cents among themselves. I made it clear to them that they must not carry too large a load or finish in too short a time.

They eagerly accepted the task. Finding that their conversation was not thin they were going to take over the Gazette office, so confident were they of the purchasing powers of their fifty cents.

They had not been working ten minutes when two little children living near arrived and offered aid—that was only the beginning. In less time than it takes to tell it there were eleven children working on that pile of kindling and the necessary well bred, happy looking children. The predominant characteristic of them all seemed to be a willingness to work—an eagerness to do something.

Looking at them, so happy in their task, I told myself that the keynote of all wrong-doing in a child was idleness. They simply must be doing something. If we parents duty to see that they have something to do, that they are not too heavy or hard for their childish capabilities and clean, healthy, vigorous play also.

Our boys and girls should early in life—very early—be taught to respect the rights of others, to be kind and courteous to all, especially the aged to know that everything in this world has its uses and abuses; that one of the truest and best of nature is "the who breaks must pay."

It is not my wish to make mention of religion in any of these articles. This, however, let me say—That the parent, father or mother who tries to raise a child without divine assistance, is brave indeed. Brave unto the point of foolhardiness! All our learned divines of whatever denomination, agree in saying that to raise a child without divine aid is to build one's structure on the sand. There is not one of us who would knowingly doubt that.

It is an easy task for a mother to turn her children's thoughts into the right channels and so that they are kept there. A child is like a piece of clay in its mother's hands and in the hands of guardians and teachers. Give me a child for a day in my own house and I will show you the manner of a home the child comes from. Why? Because child is essentially truthful and sincere. They have yet to learn the polished art of dissimulation which we parents are to them an unknown thing. "I would be a mighty good thing for the child if company manners were an unknown thing to their parents also. The thing for me, mothers, to do is to teach our very own children to be the dearest spot on earth. That no unkindness will be tolerated there. That one must bring to his home—every day in the year—the very best manners he has, and bring them, put them into practice.

"All for one and one for all" should be the home motto. Each child should be answerable as well as father and mother for the way the home is run. You may think of reading this thing to employ such methods would be to prematurely age a child—it will not! It will, but responsibilities on its shoulders I admit. However, the loving care and kindness of the parent could see to it that the responsibilities are of a nature to steady, but not bend the shoulders of their little co-partners. Due to its innate goodness of heart a child quickly responds to an appeal rightly put to it.

Knowing this, we mothers should ask them, as members of our home firm to help in the many little tasks that are coupled with the satisfactory running of every home.

Let them know you depend on them. They won't disappoint you! Be appreciative. Take time to thank them for what they do. Take time to teach them how to do the many little tasks that lie within the power of a child to do.

Remember! A busy child is a good child. A happy child, while the church and school are very important factors in the raising of children, the home comes first. The home and parents. Either we educate our ens you. In this, do not yield to a desire to please, for you will gain more by acting honestly in accordance with quiet, unselfish reasoning.

Those born today will be sentimentally selfish and after a youth of safety will lose friends and position by teaching it is in the power of their guardians to bring to the surface the really fine qualities of these children and to ensure their success.

UNCLE WALT The Poet Philosopher

Copyright, 1909, by George Matthew Adams BY WALT MASON

We always tax man's loving friend, the dog, that's faithful to the end and six months after, and if the dog isn't paid we plant the boy with a spade, midst hideous laughter, we put poor Fido in the pound or see that he is promptly drowned or else beheaded, the fast upward, the canine race is always liable to face CATS, a fate that's dreaded, AND, anger burns within our slats DOGS, when thinking of the way the cats are always favored, for midnight vampires in catcoats, and evil savored. They prow around at night and steal and on your rooftop squawk and squeal when you'd be sleeping, they always have some fendish scheme to swipe the liver of the cream, and set you weeping. They do not guard your home by night (in which good bow wows take delight), or herd the chickens, they do not drive the cows away, or ways the churn or all the sleigh, but raise the chickens, they're of no use, the silly cats, except to make a bluff at rats and two-cent mouses; they should be taxed to beat the band, until they're driven from the land and from our houses. It isn't fair to put the dog on the assessor's catalogue and skip the tabby; it isn't right to tax the pup and pass the dog-dogged tomcat up—such treatment's shabby.

Men at the head of large institutions, factories, stores, etc., realize that their employees must have good nutrition, if not their efficiency is just that much lessened.

Why should not our trained women conduct such food places with dignity and a guarantee of purity accompanying the meal? Make out several menus, but every one properly balanced and food that will satisfy and nourish. If she would be asked to analyze these dozen or more menus, she would be able to tell the food in each combination. Inquire would be found 4 to 8 per cent fat; protein, 10 to 14 per cent; carbohydrates, 45 to 60 per cent; organic mineral salts, 2 to 3 per cent. She would also know that all the vegetables and meats cooked had not lost their entire food value and been drained down the kitchen sink. Pure, clean milk containing every element in it which these boys and girls need for growth and sustenance; pasteurized or certified milk only would be served; a so pure salted and unsalted butter and entire wheat bread.

Let me suggest to these boys and girls not to be afraid of the better class restaurants, fearing the prices are too high for their allowance for luncheon. In most of these good restaurants a thick, nourishing soup is always to be found. This, with a salad, whole wheat bread and butter or an apple, banana or any fruit makes a most excellent luncheon and I wish to urge them to go to such places where they can be assured the food is the best that can be bought, not fancy, but nourishing, and that they will have no use for coffee, which is only a stimulant at its very best. There should never be any occasion for our boys and girls taking this drink at the luncheon hour.

"Homes of Character" by John Henry Newson

By special arrangement with The Gazette, Mr. Newson will answer any inquiries concerning these homes which Gazette readers may care to make. In writing, give the number of the design and address your inquiry to the "Homes of Character Department," The Gazette.

A MODERN HOME—NO. 176. SIZE 38x28 FEET

In this design the long and low effect has been sought for, and at the same time sufficient height is provided in the gables to keep the second floor bedrooms cool. Ordinary siding has been used as a wall covering, and the roof is covered with shingles.

The floor plans call for a basement under the entire house, and the first floor has a living room, dining room and hall finished in plain oak, stained a rich dark brown. The second floor is reached by combination stairs from both the kitchen and main hall, and has three ample bedrooms, a library, bathroom and a sleeping porch.

This house cost about $5600, and should be duplicated for this sum. In the smaller cities and towns it could be built for considerably less.
